Figure 1. A schematic diagram of the proposed system. The system is composed of a user, a server, and a database. The user sends a request to the server, which then queries the database. The server returns the results to the user. The database is used to store the data and is accessed by the server. The user is the one who interacts with the system and provides the input. The server is the central component that manages the data and provides the output. The database is the storage component that holds the data and is accessed by the server. The system is designed to be efficient and secure, ensuring that the data is protected and the user's privacy is maintained.

Figure 1. A typical water-soluble polymer solution, for example, poly(vinyl alcohol) (PVA) in water, is a homogeneous mixture of PVA and water molecules. A homogeneous mixture has the same composition and properties throughout.
